Some Facts About the FACT Act -- FREE Credit Reports For Consumers

The Fair and Accurate Credit Transactions Act of 2003 — or FACT Act — is a United States federal law, as an amendment to the Fair Credit Reporting Act. The act allows consumers to request and obtain a free credit report once every twelve months from each of the three nationwide consumer credit reporting companies (Equifax, Experian and TransUnion). In cooperation with the Federal Trade Commission, the three major credit reporting agencies set up the website, AnnualCreditReport.com, to provide free access to annual credit reports.

The act also contains provisions to help reduce identity theft, such as the ability for individuals to place alerts on their credit histories if identity theft is suspected, or if deploying overseas in the military, thereby making fraudulent applications for credit more difficult. Further, it requires secure disposal of consumer information. We recommend that our members take full advantage of this and order their one free credit report per year so that they are aware of any changes in status or number. The three credit bureaus, gather and maintain information on your individual credit history. They then provide this information to those who request it — lenders, employers and others.

From the Desk of CEO, Joshua C. Urbick

This past year has been one of growth, transformation, and opportunity.

Strengthening our labor union partnerships, enhancing services, and building a strong team have positioned us for continued success.

This year brought exciting leadership changes, with Antwan Benjamin promoted to Operations Supervisor and Mia Sidell joining as Operations Manager—strengthening our team as we continue delivering real financial value to our members. One of our biggest successes was helping members secure their dream cars and refinance high-rate auto loans with an exclusive 3.99% for 72 months, far below the very high rates offered by big banks.

We've also reinforced a simple message: "Bank with Us. We're Union, You're Union." Unlike big banks, we prioritize union members' best interests and have saved our members thousands by refinancing costly auto loans.

A special thank you to IBEW Local 26, IBEW Local 70, UA Local 5, SMW Local 100, IUEC Local 10, and Insulators Local 24 for your continued trust and support. As we move into 2025, we remain dedicated to delivering exceptional service, competitive rates, and a financial institution that truly understands and advocates for union members.

A recap of 2024, Mia Sidell Operations Manager

As we close out 2024, I reflect on the incredible opportunities I've had to connect with our members and empower them through financial education. It has been a privilege to provide insights and tools that promote financial stability and long-term success.

A highlight of the year was presenting at the IBEW Local 26 Financial Seminar, where we took a deep dive into the lending process. Helping members navigate loans and make informed financial decisions was a meaningful way to support their financial well-being.

I also had the honor of leading the advanced financial stability seminar for UA Local 5 Plumbers, guiding these skilled professionals through complex financial topics. Their dedication to both their trade and their financial futures was truly inspiring, and the thoughtful discussions reinforced the importance of financial literacy.

Additionally, working with Local 26 JATC and Local 5 Plumbers Apprenticeship on introductory credit union presentations was incredibly rewarding. Walking participants through the fundamentals of credit unions and the value they bring to union members helped strengthen trust and engagement within our community.

These experiences have been more than just educational—they've fostered deeper connections and reinforced the power of financial empowerment. I'm grateful for the opportunity to be part of this journey and look forward to continuing to support our members in the years ahead!
